

Nineteenth Judicial District Overview

January 2023

The Nineteenth Judicial District includes all of Weld County, the third largest county in the State of Colorado. The District covers approximately 4,000 square miles. There are 32 incorporated towns in Weld County that are served by 27 chiefs of police in addition to the Weld County sheriff.

The county seat and principal city, Greeley, contains almost half the county's population. Generally, most of the remaining population resides within a 30-mile radius of Greeley according to county officials. It serves a population of 340,036 as estimated by the State Demographer's Office.

In Fiscal Year 2022 (July 1, 2021-June 30, 2022) there were 35,108 cases filed in the Weld County Combined Courts. That number includes 23,530 cases filed in county court, 11,578 in district court including 244 Water cases.

There are 21 judicial officers in the Nineteenth Judicial District, which includes 11 district court judges, four county court judges, three full-time magistrates, one .80 FTE magistrate, one .40 FTE magistrate, and one water referee.

The district court judges handle domestic relations, felony criminal, juvenile, civil, mental health, Adult Treatment Court, DUI Court, and probate cases. In addition, Weld County is the seat of the Water Court for Water Division No. 1 which consists of all lands in the state of Colorado in the drainage basins of the South Platte River, Bit Laramie River, Arikaree River, north and south forks of the Republican River, Smokey Hill River, Sandy and Frenchman Creeks, and streams tributary to these rivers and creeks (this area includes 24 counties).

The county court judges are responsible for traffic and misdemeanor matters, and civil matters that do not reach the jurisdictional dollar amount of the district court. The four county court judges handle an equal share of the domestic violence, traffic, protection orders, misdemeanor and civil cases.

The magistrates presently handle a combination of small claims, domestic relations, juvenile delinquency, first appearances in county court, bond hearings, child support, and truancy matters. Magistrates are non-elected judicial officers who are responsible to the district's Chief Judge. In addition, there is one full-time water referee who is a non-elected judicial officer responsible to the Water Judge. The water referee handles water claims filed in Water Division No. 1 of the State of Colorado.

In addition to judges and magistrates, there are 185 fulltime equivalent positions designated as support personnel. These positions include court judicial assistants, court clerks, court reporters, interpreters, collections investigators, probation officers and support staff. There are 96 FTE assigned to the courts, 89 FTE in probation.

For further information about the courts, please contact Marci Hoffman, Court Executive, Weld County Courthouse, 901 9th Avenue, P.O. Box 2038, Greeley, CO 80632. The telephone number is (970) 475-2500. Most court proceedings are open to the public. If you are planning to visit the courts, please contact Ms. Hoffman for more specific information concerning dates and times of court proceedings.
