

Andrew brings thirty years of practicing domestic relations law, including approximately ten years of mediation experience to the Office of Dispute Resolution. He was admitted to the Colorado Bar in 1995. Currently, Andrew maintains a diverse law practice in the several areas of family law and domestic relations mediation.

Andrew specializes in all areas of family law, including divorce, property division, child custody, allocation of parental responsibilities, paternity, child support, maintenance, and Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction and Enforcement Act cases. He also prepares pre-marital and post-marital agreements for those interested in financial planning prior to or after marriage. Andrew also has a busy mediation practice since he completed the 40-hour Continuing Legal Education program in mediation in January 2014. Andrew originally mediated privately and for the Office of Dispute Resolution for the past approximately ten years.
