Jennifer B. James is a seasoned family law attorney and mediator based in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Since 2005, she has dedicated her practice to helping families navigate the complexities of the law with compassion and expertise. Jennifer serves as a mediator for the Office of Dispute Resolution in both the 4th and 10th Judicial Districts, where she facilitates amicable resolutions for a wide range of family disputes. She handles mediations in domestic, civil, and probate matters, bringing her experience to each case.

Jennifer earned her Doctor of Jurisprudence from the University of Houston in 2004. Her passion for supporting families began with her undergraduate studies in Child Development and Family Relationships at the University of Texas at Austin, where she graduated in 1999. Her academic background provides her with a unique understanding of the psychological and relational dynamics involved in family law matters.

Jennifer is an active member of the Inns of Court, El Paso County Bar Association, Colorado Bar Association, and the Alternative Dispute Resolution Section.

Jennifer is deeply committed to assisting individuals and families through the court process. She combines her extensive legal knowledge with a compassionate approach to support individuals in finding solutions that foster stability and healing.
