Pamela A. Papner, JD/MBA served as a mediator in Atlanta, Georgia (2018-2023) and is currently a practicing mediator for both general civil, domestic relations and pre-eviction cases in the Denver, Colorado area. She holds a J.D. and B.A. (French and Political Science) from Emory University and an MBA from Georgia State University.

Ms. Papner is a retired attorney (admitted to bar in Ohio and Georgia), with experience in general civil litigation and domestic relations. As a former Executive Director, Product Management for AT&T Wireless, she also has more than twenty years of business experience, including product development and P&L responsibility for wireless products.

Ms. Papner has completed more than 100 hours of mediation training, has mediated more than 300 court-ordered cases, and is a member of “theMAC” (Mediation Association of Colorado). Prior to relocating to Colorado, she served as president of her local Atlanta neighborhood civic association, where she successfully led the fundraising and $1M acquisition/construction of a new community park, the implementation of neighborhood commercial zoning, and other initiatives. She received the Aaron Gross Award for community service in 2013.
